

Young Woman Fatally Hurt; Driver Held On Manslaughter Charge

Elizabeth Brodie is Hurlled From a Car Driven by Leo Kennedy of Eddyville Sunday Morning on Abel Street.

TWO CARS COLLIDED

Crash of the Two Automobiles Occurred on Abel Street Near the City Line.

Elizabeth M. Brodie, 19 years old, fatally injured about 1:30 p.m. Sunday morning when a car in which she was riding sidetracked her machine and crashed into a large rock along Abel street about 600 feet from the city line. The accident happened at the old cement plant. Miss Brodie died while being conveyed to the Kingston Hospital. Death was due to concussion of the brain with hemorrhage and internal injuries according to the findings of Dr. John B. Krom and Kenneth H. Meyer who performed an autopsy at the Conner Funeral Home, where the body was removed. She also suffered a deep laceration on the forehead and numerous lacerations about the body.

The accident happened when a Plymouth roadster, driven by Leo Kennedy, 22, of Eddyville and a Rocke coupe owned by Roy Harrington of Ulster Park and driven by John Henry Yoe, of 1857 Howland avenue, New York city, sidetracked as the cars were passing. The Plymouth car was proceeding toward Eddyville and the Rocke was coming toward Kingston.

Kennedy Is Held.
Kennedy was held in $2,500 bail on a technical charge of manslaughter after he had been questioned by Chief of Police Wood. The driver and occupants of the Rocke were also questioned at headquarters.

An investigation of the accident was made by the police and by Coroner Conner and his assistant, Arthur Keator.

The occupants of both cars had been attending a party at Taddo's at Eddyville. Kennedy and Miss Brodie had left and driven to Kingston and were on their way back when the accident happened. When the two machines came together, the Plymouth went off the shoulder of the road and struck a large boulder at the side. Miss Brodie was thrown from the machine by the impact, landing 25 or 30 feet ahead. She was picked up and placed in the car of Richard Wenzel of Wilbur and rushed to the Kingston Hospital, but was dead upon arrival. She was examined by Dr. Harold Mellish, intern at the hospital.

Miss Brodie during the winter months attended school in Brooklyn and lived with her sister there. She had recently come to Eddyville and was staying for the summer with her mother and sister.

Interment in Brooklyn.
The body was taken to Brooklyn Undertaker Conner and funeral services will be held from the home of her sister at 415 East 26th street, where she resided during the time she was attending school. Services will be held Tuesday with interment Holy Cross Cemetery, Brooklyn.

MICHIGAN MAN KILLS FOUR
East Tawas, Mich., July 2 (AP).—J. Wood, 52, who said the noise of merry-makers so enraged him that he slew four of them and wounded a fifth, was held for arraignment today on murder charge.

Wood, who walked to the county jail in nearby Tawas City after a quadruple slaying early Sunday morning, expressed no remorse. He was held in lieu of $10,000 bond. There were no signs of disorder. Those killed were: Dr. Stanley Myers, 51; Sheriff Charles C. Miller, 28, (whom neighbors had called on the shooting started); Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Haynes, age 35 and 31 respectively. Ray Hickey, one of the guests at the party, was wounded.

LOCAL SILENCE PLANS TO STOP ALL NIGHT WORK

The Katterman & Katterman Co. will on Cornell street be closed this week for annual inventory. It is understood that when it resumes the night work will be discontinued, as business conditions do not warrant running a night shift. Policy of favoring the married man in giving work will be followed. The firm will place some of the 50 or 60 formerly employed on the night shift on the day force.

Murray Orders An Inquest Into Airliner Crash Killing Seven

District Attorney Attempting to Find New Facts in Connection With Crash-up of Curtiss-Condor Plane on Mongaup Mountain—Several Investigations Under Way.

District Attorney Clemen B. Murray will hold an inquest on Tuesday, July 10, at 10 o'clock before Coroner Howard B. Hamilton at the county court room here to inquire into the facts and circumstances surrounding the crash of the Newark-Chicago bound American Airlines airliner which crashed at Mongaup mountain on June 9 carrying seven people to their death.

At first the crash was supposed to have taken place in Sullivan county and an investigation was commenced by the Sullivan county officials. Later a survey was made and it was found the crash had taken place in Ulster county, a short distance from the county line. District Attorney Murray had made an investigation prior to that on the theory as first advanced that the crash had been in Ulster county. Later when the Sullivan county authorities abandoned the investigation he again took up the matter and has had several special investigators on the scene as well as making a personal inspection. Pending a report of the investigations being made by the airline and by Federal Department of Commerce inspectors no inquest was called by the district attorney. However a local investigation has been under way to determine if possible just what did happen to the plane which attempted to cross the Catskills after its regular route to the south by way of Scranton was reported fog-bound.

The plane was in charge of Clyde Holbrook of Chicago, a World War pilot, not by phone but in person, and signed the list. This may be done any day up until Thursday, but preferably tomorrow, between 1 and 5 p.m.

Joe and Eddie have been on the air in their quarter hour slot for six months and in this short time have gained considerable popularity with the nationally distributed sketches of the Stubbins, Brewsters, the Goldbergs, Mott and Marge and Ames 'n' Andy. They offer an act filled with comedy, featuring Waldo Poole as Joe with his French-Canadian dialect.

Tom Lewis, one of the most prominent announcers on the air, will be another star appearing at the Municipal Auditorium, as will Miss Helene Mae, local soprano soloist, who has made rapid strides in radio work since entering that field of occupation as an artist at WGY, WMAF and WJZ, several months ago.

Miss Mae, who has many admirers in Kingston, having made personal appearances here for the American Legion and Benedictine Hospital at their annual balls, is expected to be one of the greatest drawing attractions on the program July 6.

Miss Mae sings every Monday evening at 6:30 on WGY and will be heard tonight. Her program for the Legion concert will be announced in the near future.

Harry W. Spingold Dead of Heart Attack

Was Enroute From Chicago to His Home in New York City When He Was Taken Suddenly Ill at Byrdcliffe.

Harry W. Spingold, 52, of 100 West 55th street, New York city, enroute from Chicago to his home in New York city died suddenly of a heart attack at the Villetta, a summer place at Byrdcliffe, about 6:45 o'clock Sunday evening. He, with his wife and Mrs. George W. Mellon, a friend of the family, were on their way home and in passing through this locality decided to pay a visit to Dr. Jasick, a friend who is spending the summer at Byrdcliffe on the heights above Woodstock.

As they were driving along Mr. Spingold complained of feeling ill and the party stopped to seek aid. He was taken to the Villetta and Dr. Jasick was summoned. When he arrived Mr. Spingold was dead. Coroner Conner was summoned and the coroner went to the scene. The body was removed to the W. N. Conner Funeral Home, 294 Fair street, where preparations were made for taking the body to New York city today where it will be turned over to Undertaker Frank D. Campbell, 45th street and Broadway.

President Roosevelt At Least Eight Persons Turned To the Open Sea Were Drowned Upstate On Historic Journey N. Y. Over Week-End

Will Stop Briefly at Haiti Thursday Before Landing at Puerto Rico Friday to Travel Across That Island.

13,000 MILE ROUTE

Trip Will Take Chief Executive To Cartagena, Colombia, South America and Hawaii.

Aboard the U. S. S. Giller accompanying President Roosevelt, July 2 (AP)—President Roosevelt turned to the open sea today, striking out on his historic journey to the American possessions of the Atlantic and Pacific.

The cruiser Houston, carrying the President, neared Hampton Roads at dawn for a final exchange of official papers after a cheering sendoff as darkness fell last night at Annapolis, Md.

From Hampton Roads, the President goes to the high seas, stopping briefly at Haiti Thursday before landing at Puerto Rico Friday to travel across the island.

A gay flotilla of small craft surrounded the Houston in midstream at Annapolis and shrieked farewell to the happy President, bent eagerly on his sea vacation.

A band on the destroyer Giller hailed the commander-in-chief aboard the Houston with the Star Spangled Banner.

Mr. Roosevelt stood at attention and sailors manned the rails. A few moments later the Houston was underway, with the last flickers of sunset glowing over the shores of old Annapolis.

Franklin, Jr., and John, sons of the President, were aboard with him. Mrs. Roosevelt and James, their oldest son, waved farewell from the dock with a crowd that gave the President a rousing sendoff.

The 13,000 mile route that lay ahead will take the President to Cartagena, Colombia, South America and Hawaii—the first visits by a President of the United States to South America and Hawaii—and thence to the American west coast.

Leading at Portland, Oregon, about August 2 the President will travel east, viewing at first hand the results of his "New Deal."

Severely Injured When Auto Hits Tree

G. W. Wharton Receives Severe Injuries, His Mother and His Sister Slightly Hurt in Mishap at Hurley

George W. Wharton, Jr., 24, from the District of Columbia, was severely injured about the head and his mother, Elina H. Wharton and sister, Aline, escaped with lacerations and abrasions, when the Ford sedan in which they were riding crashed into a tree and then struck the stone house of Mrs. Cameron, on the sharp turn at the eastern entrance to Hurley about 10:30 Sunday morning.

The car was completely wrecked. Mrs. Wharton, who was driving the car and was on her way to Albany, told Deputy Sheriff Molyneux and Flueckiger that the accident happened when she failed to make the turn.

George Wharton was taken to the Benedictine Hospital where his injuries were treated by Dr. William S. Bush. The doctor found that he was suffering from a fracture of the skull. For some time Sunday his condition was considered critical, but he is reported as showing improvement this morning. Mrs. Wharton and her daughter were discharged from the hospital after their injuries had been treated by Dr. Bush.

Fame Sleeper Service.
Chicago, July 2 (AP).—The world's first complete sleeper planes will go into service between Chicago and New York July 8. An eastbound plane is scheduled to leave Chicago at 11:05 p.m. inaugurating a nightly schedule over the American Airlines' Chicago, Detroit, Buffalo, New York route, officials announced yesterday.

Mrs. Jackson Injured
Mrs. William Jackson, wife of the proprietor of the lunch room on Cornell street, was injured about the legs about 2:30 o'clock this morning when struck by an auto driven by John Naccarato of 20 North street, at Broadway and Cedar street.

Abandonment of Price-Fixing was Recommended.
Since completion of the report Darrow has resigned. Other members said they would take a recess until they received further directions from President Roosevelt.

Von Hindenburg Threatens State Of Siege If Von Papen Is Victimized

German Army Is Made Personally Responsible For Safety of Von Papen

DECLARE PREMIER GOERING WILL SUCCEED VON PAPEN.
Berlin, July 2 (AP).—Prussian Premier Hermann Wilhelm Goering will succeed Franz Von Papen as vice chancellor of Germany, one of the premier's close friends stated today.

The resignation of Von Papen or his ousting is expected tomorrow, it was stated.

Goering will immediately step up to the post behind Chancellor Hitler.

BRITISH CIRCLES SHOW MIXED EMOTIONS OVER GERMANY'S STATEMENT
London, July 2 (AP).—Germany's official reference to "a foreign power" in connection with the revolt has caused widespread astonishment and not a little ridicule in British diplomatic and political circles.

Such terms as "allies" and "camouflage" were used to describe the feeling in some circles.

The general reaction is that the reference to a foreign power was injected into the situation intentionally to confuse both the German people and the world while the "purifying process" continues within the Nazi ranks.

"What power could Hitler mean if there is any serious thought about foreign connivance in his mind?" asked one political figure.

"Surely Hitler would not be so absurd as to accuse any neighboring country."

The supposed presence in Great Britain of former Chancellor Heinrich Brüning has given rise to rumors that he might be implicated personally in the plot and had fled here for that reason.

Brüning came to southern England recently. While official quarters professed ignorance of his present whereabouts, it was reported he departed for the continent last week. It was believed in informed quarters that Brüning was entirely unconnected with the Berlin and Munich events.

HANFSTAENGL SEES BRIGHT DAYS AHEAD
Beverly Farms, Mass., July 2 (AP).—Dr. Ernst F. S. Hanfstaengl, confidential aide to Chancellor Adolf Hitler, believes Germany is marching towards "a greater, brighter future."

He speaks of Hitler as the man who has "averted chaos, and has not only averted ruin for Germany, but for the entire civilized world."

"Hitler has proven himself never greater, never more human than in the last 48 bitter hours"—so it is that Dr. Hanfstaengl comments on the storm troop rebellion in his far-off fatherland.

It was his first public discussion of Nazi affairs since his arrival in this country two weeks ago. He came to attend his 25th reunion at Harvard University and stayed on to enjoy the peace and quiet of Massachusetts' north shore. He is the guest of Louis Agassiz Shaw, a classmate, at the latter's estate.

He was tanned by the sun, appeared thoroughly rested, and apparently was not in the least worried over the outcome of events in Germany.

"Going home?"
"If they need me I would go," he answered, "but I am here and I intend to enjoy myself for a little while longer."

Railroad Men Grateful.
Cleveland, July 2 (AP).—President Roosevelt and Congress today had the thanks of a million or more railroad men for the railroad pension legislation which will permit 100,000 railroad men to retire this year and take it easy.

Can Spend Ten Billion.
Washington, July 2 (AP).—In the fiscal year just beginning, the government can spend nearly ten billion dollars and still remain within President Roosevelt's estimates of the cost of whipping the depression.

Ghostly Madman Killed Two Men
Steuersville, O., July 2 (AP).—A phantom-like madman who seems bent on killing off the employees of the Wheeling Steel Corporation here, shot and killed two workers in the mill yards today and disappeared in the darkness.

The dead are William Messer, 30, and Ray Kockendorfer, 35, employees in the open hearth of the mill. They were shot as they were reporting for work.

Last January, bullets came out of the darkness in the company yard, fatally wounding Fred Melchior, 38, company railroad brakeman. On March 21, James Barnett, 28, another employee, was shot three times, but recovered and left the hospital last week.

HENRY FORD WINS IN CHOOSE CAREER MEET.
Newark, N. J., July 2 (AP).—Henry Ford gets the vote of the students who attended the first "choosing-a-career" conference.

The automobile manufacturer, on the basis of a tabulation today from questionnaires answered at the close of the three day conference last week, won easily as the American business man most admired.

Samuel Insull received six votes.

German Army Is Made Personally Responsible For Safety of Von Papen
Fate of Vice Chancellor, Critic of Some Nazi Methods, Has Become a Question of Burning Moment Throughout Germany.

BLESSES HITLER
Von Hindenburg Tells Hitler He Saved The German People From Serious Dangers.

By LOUIS F. LOCHNER.
Copyright, 1934, by The Associated Press.

Berlin, July 2 (AP).—President Paul von Hindenburg today made the Reichswehr (German Army) personally responsible for the safety of Vice Chancellor Franz Von Papen, threatening a state of siege if he were victimized for his recent bold stand in criticizing some Nazi policies.

A guard of special black shirt soldiers was delegated to ensure Von Papen's safety.

The ultimate fate of the vice chancellor, bitter conservative critic of some of the Nazi methods, had become a question of burning moment in Germany when his friend and patron, President von Hindenburg, gave his blessing to Chancellor Hitler today.

The president from his retreat in Neudeck, where he is lying ill, telegraphed the chancellor:

"You have saved the German people from serious dangers. I express to you my deep thanks and gratitude with cordial regards."

So far as was known to the general public von Papen was still forbidden to leave his apartment adjoining Hitler's. Several of his close collaborators were dead.

Those executed in Saturday's ruthless "liquidation" of Nazi extremists and rightists opposed to the Nazi regime, included Werner von Alvensleben, von Papen's close friend. The vice chancellor's adjutant, Friedrich von Tschirsky, was reported to have committed suicide.

Von Papen's secretary, Hubert von Bose, was said to have gone the same way.

Others close to von Papen were said to have been given the alternative of doing away with themselves or facing the firing squad.

Hitler firmly in the saddle.

It was apparent to all that Hitler and his chief adjutant, Hermann Wilhelm Goering, were, in the present situation at least, firmly in the saddle.

With principal leaders of the opposition already dead and other shootings rumored hourly, opposing forces had no directing heads to lead them into action.

Government buildings were still heavily guarded by police today and police with rifles walked the streets by twos. The blackshirted Schutz Staffeln, Goering's special guardsmen, were held in readiness for any emergency.

Berlin was going about its business, but the atmosphere was still tensely charged as rumors floated back and forth through the streets.

In these rumors France emerged as the "mysterious foreign power" which Hitler charged Saturday with having been in communication with the conspirators against him.

The French embassy denied flatly that the French government had any connection with the conspiracy, but the rumors continued in circulation.

Among the developments of the day was the arrest of Major Meidner von Meidner, for many years adjutant to the former Crown Prince Friedrich Wilhelm who was taken into custody because of his known friendship for General Kurt von Schleicher. The latter, former chancellor and firm monarchist, was killed "resisting arrest" Saturday.

Hohenzollerns Not Implicated

Quarters close to the government indicated they felt the Hohenzollern house was in no way implicated and that Von Meidner's arrest was on a purely personal basis.

The former crown prince returned today from his estate at Oles, Silesia, and said that he had been molested in no way while he was there or while he was traveling. He went to his Potsdam home immediately upon his arrival. Prince August Wilhelm, the Kaiser's fourth son, was reported on good authority to be at his home in Potsdam with his movements unrestricted.

In this connection it was pointed out that the whole former imperial family appeared to be keeping strictly out of the situation. No member would make even the slightest comment.

The number of dead in the week-end upheaval was fixed unofficially today at 18.

Gunderson Pays $15 Fine.
Roy Gunderson, 19, of Bire Mountain, was arraigned before Justice Charles H. Bennett at Saugerties, charged with operating a car without a license. He was given a fine of $15 or 15 days and was brought to the county jail, but paid the fine and was discharged.

OUR CHILDREN

THE FOURTH

THE Fourth of July is the birthday of our country. We are rather inclined to consider it an important national holiday, an occasion for formal speeches, tributes to the flag, parades and patriotic meetings. The day has not enough personal meaning for us, however we make it more the occasion for backward looks than for inspired searchings. It is the forward searching glance that we need this Fourth. What meaning has it for each of us good citizens of a great nation?

The men who signed the Declaration of Independence, the men who entered the war that decided the stability of the Declaration, the men and women who suffered through the years of that terrible struggle were not making speeches, pointing with pride or viewing with alarm. They were fighting with all they had in them, making all they had or hoped to have, for an ideal. The freedom of the individual soul was at stake. Its cause was won.

Spiritual freedom must be won many times. One victory is never enough. The enemy can never be exterminated, never as long as men continue to fight for existence on this material earth. Again and again the war must be won. Daily battles must be fought: if the victory is to remain with the victors. Ideals must be reborn if they are to be sustained.

This Fourth of July must see a rebirth of an old ideal. Personal citizenship must rally to the cause of good government. It is the business of every man and woman of voting age to search his spirit, concentrate his devotion to the end that this nation enter upon its rebirth with the utmost courage, determination and devotion. We cannot stand by while others bear our burdens. We must think, and speak and act in support of our ideals if these ideals are to be maintained.

What are we teaching the children about all this? To tell them on the Fourth of July seventeen hundred seventy-six this nation was declared free and independent is to tell them nothing that has meaning for them. It is our duty to put meaning into those words.

It is our duty to point out to the young men and women who have just graduated from our high schools and colleges what the present ideals of the American people are, where they are leading, what aims they indicate.

With each succeeding generation these ideals take on new color, are expressed in new terms. Speak to the children in words they can understand. Translate the old ideals of spiritual freedom into present day phrases. Fit the new schemes into the old and show how they fit, how they belong, how they are the logical outgrowth of an ancient truth. Translate this Fourth into to-day's thought and make it vital with meaning for the boys and girls who are so soon to take over the management of their country.

Your party obligations have no quarrel with American ideals.

These were founded on fundamental truth, the right of mankind to the pursuit of happiness. The right of all men to liberty and justice. The terms are old. The ideals are old. They still apply even in this new day, the better day that is dawning for America.

Turn your face forward, point the children forward, this Fourth and make it meaningful for yourself and for them.

Drugged into the Little Church around the corner. A wedding ceremony was being performed in the little chapel. Nothing new about that. There are many weddings of the church first made known by the late Judge Johnson. Was said there were 25 or more weddings celebrated for tomorrow, Saturday, which is the most popular day. But the Little Church around the corner felt the depression severely indeed. In fact, if I am correctly informed, there was even a Saturday or two when there were no weddings. But now there is a slight approach to the old average. So the country must once again be facing the one since so many more young people are convinced that two can live as cheaply as one, or that the cost of matrimony are other than troubled.

Discreet inquiries have and there developed the fact that the increase in the number of weddings at the Little Church is not the only prosperity sign. The number of weddings with music has increased and oftentimes the large as well as the small chapel is used, with couples waiting their turn to face the altar. But that wasn't what I intended to say. Last year, a number of the couples, after the ceremony was performed, had to borrow one two to get where they were going. So far this year, no money requests have followed ceremonies. And a reliable report has it that the amount given the officiating clergymen are far larger than usual. So happy days are here again!

Speaking of churches, I am reminded of the clergymen over in New Jersey who at Easter time preached to an extremely large congregation. At the end of his sermon, he wished his parishioners a merry Christmas and a happy New Year. Puzzled, some waited and asked him what he meant by that. "Well," replied the pastor, "there are only three times a year that I see so many of you, so I am anticipating our next meeting."

Returning rapidly to the City of the Seven Hills, there were these five stalwart young men who rode to the top of the Empire State building. It being a chilly day, the guard on duty at that time on the one hundred and second floor stepped inside a minute to get warm. When he returned, he found to his horror that four of the five young men were taking their view of the surrounding scenery while standing on top of the narrow wall that keeps visitors from falling 1,250 feet, while the fifth was lying down on that same wall. The guard ordered them down in a hurry and when they alighted inquired angrily: "What are you, acrobats?" "No," replied the spokesman of the group, "We're Norwegian sailors and we often walk the tightrope in a heavy sea just for fun."

Robert J. Casey, journalist, artillery man in the World war, author and world traveler—he's vanished the idea on his portable typewriter so they'll stay on—has purchased chances on everything from safety razors to strings of pearls. Once upon a time, he took a chance on a plane and won it. He had a plane at home and couldn't use two, so he placed his prize in storage. That was 14 years ago. And ever since then he has been paying storage charges because he doesn't want to sell the only thing he's ever won!

Subway eavesdropping: "He says to her that he's got to meet a man on business, and she smiles to herself because she thinks she's going to get her divorce sure. But all her detective could dig up on him was that he met the guy he said he was going to and landed a big contract. Ain't that the damndest luck for her!"

Money that will stretch a long ways is now being sold on Broadway at the rate of 5 cents for $1. It is rubber. One of the salesmen shouts: "Here's your chance to pay your alimony."

Books Bought in 1876 for $27 Sold for $7,700
Philadelphia.—A net profit of $7,423 on a $27 investment was made here recently. In 1876 Joseph Parrish bought four volumes of "The History of the Reign of Emperor Charles Fifth" for $27. His daughter, Mrs. Marianna Parrish Kelley of Redwood, sold the books at auction, after she discovered they bore the autograph of George Washington. They brought her $7,700.

Boundary Dog Makes

Knotty Tax Problem
Stoney Creek, Ont.—A dog lives in Stoney Creek—and thereby keeps a tale.

The house of the dog's master is on the township line, half in and half out of the village. So when the dog is in the front of the house he is in a township dog, and when he is in the back he is a village dog.

The owner refuses to pay two taxes on one dog, and the dog refuses to stay in one end of the house. So the township collector and the village collector are trying to decide who should collect the tax.

Youth Council Plans Meeting

Thursday evening the regular monthly meeting of Kingston Youth Council will be held. Delegates to the council are requested to meet at the Y. M. C. A. promptly at 7:30, and come with transport them to a scenic destination, where the meeting will be held.

Membership into the council is open to any three members of an affiliated young people's group in the city or vicinity.

Thursday evening detailed plans for the third annual congress will be made. The congress will be held at the "T" camp at Glenora on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, September 14, 15 and 16; with registration received from any young person 16 years of age or over who is accepted by the committee in charge. Roger Noble will be installed as president, and will announce the new board of directors for the year. All members are urged to be present.

DEWITT REMOVED IS NOT IN BUSINESS

It has been repeatedly brought to my attention that I have moved from Phoenixia, also that my health has necessitated giving up the electrical contracting business. In reply to such rumors I wish to state emphatically that I am still at the old stand and my health is never better than now. Business is very good at the present time and I wish to thank my many friends for their past patronage and to assure them that I am still in a position to render the same service as in the past.

Capt. Daniel Boone Rose to the Rank of Colonel

Daniel Boone was commissioned a captain in the Virginia militia and rose to the rank of colonel. Most of his fighting was against Indians in the British service during the Revolution.

Nathaniel Taylor held the rank of major general at the close of the Mexican war. As President he was also commander in chief of the army and navy. William Stark Rosecrans was a brigadier general of the Civil war. George H. Thomas was a major general at the close of the Civil war and three years later declined the brevet rank of lieutenant general offered him by President Johnson.

Oliver Hazard Perry was a Lieutenant when he won the battle of Lake Erie. Congress made him a captain as part of his reward, and after the war he attained the rank of commodore.

Oliver Otis Howard and John A. Logan both attained their highest rank, that of major general, in the Civil war. Joseph Eggleston Johnston resigned his commission as brigadier general in the United States army at the outbreak of the Civil war and rose to the rank of general in the Confederate service.

Joseph Warren was a major general in the Revolution. Stephen Decatur attained the rank of commodore after the War of 1812.

Much Interest in DeWitt Reunion

A great deal of interest is being displayed in the coming reunion of this distinguished family—the DeWitts of America—to be held in Kingston at the County Court House at 1 p. m. on July 4, and at the Suddam Farm of the Beatty Family. If weather favorable, at the close of the welcome address at the Court House by the city historian, the Hon. G. D. B. Hasbrouck.

In the possession of Supervisor Matthew T. E. DeWitt and Mrs. We-Witt of Hurley, Ulster county, are the original medals struck off by the Holland government in memory of the brothers DeWitt, John and Cornelius, who suffered death at the hands of a mob in the 1600's in Holland, the brothers fighting for a free republic and the liberties of the people themselves. It is hoped that these originals will be exhibited at the reunion.

The American family was founded by Tjerk Claassen DeWitt at the time his homestead (now the Suddam Farm on Hurley avenue), after Tjerk Claassen's marriage to Barbara Andriessen in New York, April 24, 1656. Jan DeWitt also was a founder of the Long Island branch of the family in the 1650's.

As colonists the forebears of this family assisted in advancing civilization. In the Indian wars they were defenders of the settlers, their homes and families. In the French and Indian War were with Washington and in the Revolution. Col. Charles DeWitt, friend of General and Mrs. Washington and the Livingstons, lived in the town of Hurley, and was of great assistance to Washington and George Clinton as statesman, soldier and manufacturer. Col. Cornelius D. DeWitt and Col. Thomas DeWitt (Rev.) were on Washington's staff. Surgever General Simon DeWitt was topographical engineer on Washington's staff all through the war. Capt. Jacob DeWitt and Lucas DeWitt and many others were officers or of private rank (in the War of 1776). Including Abdris A. DeWitt and seven sons. Major Moses DeWitt, surveyor, lived at Syracuse. Gov. DeWitt Clinton was the son of Mary DeWitt of Napanoch, Ulster county.

who married Gen. James Clinton of Albany. Col. William Rodrick DeWitt, Abraham DeWitt, Capt. Moses DeWitt and Abram DeWitt and many more of official and private rank in Pennsylvania and New Jersey participated in the War of 1812. From Ulster county alone 67 DeWitts enlisted in that conflict. Many DeWitts were in the Civil, Spanish-American and World Wars. Four sons of Dorsey DeWitt were across and in active service in the World War.

The Rev. John DeWitt of New York, the Rev. John DeWitt of New Jersey, the Rev. John DeWitt of Pennsylvania and the Rev. Thomas DeWitt and the Rev. William DeWitt of New York were contributors from the DeWitt family to the cause of Christianity through the Dutch Church in America.

Many descendants of these and other DeWitts will gather to pay tribute to the memory of their forefathers and the nation their ancestors helped to build.

The Rev. Lucas Boore of the First Dutch Reformed Church of Kingston will lead the DeWitts in prayer at the reunion and at the grave of Col. Charles DeWitt at Hurley.

The reunion committee are in receipt of letters requesting information as to the reunion and as to those whose names are not DeWitt but are of the DeWitt line. The committee desires the attendance of all relatives and connections of the DeWitts and others interested and requests that lists be handed in at the reunion giving the lineage wherever possible no matter how remote.

In Holland the word "DeWitt" is literally the "White." It is the name of a famous Dutch family, who have always been foremost in the ranks during contests for liberty, both in Holland and in America. In past centuries several illustrious DeWitts sacrificed their lives because of their enthusiasm and formidable efforts toward establishing and maintaining a republican form of government in Holland, and were arrested and fined for first advocating of suffrage in America.

DeWitt, attorney, Kingston.

HERE, John Biggs, IS WHAT TO DO FOR YOUR Headaches!

Dr. B. —* tells Mr. Biggs, traffic officer, of New York, N. Y.

If you are made miserable by those "sick" headaches... follow the advice of Dr. B. —. Get positive relief more quickly by removing the real cause!

Those nagging "sick" headaches of yours—nine times out of ten, doctors have learned, are due to just one cause: . . . Your intestines are clogged with poisonous wastes!

These accumulated wastes, according to Dr. B. —, exert pressure on the intestinal nerves, thus causing your headaches. Also they generate poisons that the blood stream picks up and carries to all parts of your body—making you feel "half sick," listless, out-of-sorts.

You must rid the system of these poisonous wastes! And for nearly forty years, doctors have prescribed Sal Hepatica as the safe, sure way to do this. For Sal Hepatica is utterly different from other types of laxatives in four vital respects:—

Why Sal Hepatica Is Different—More Efficient

1. It is a Mineral Salt Laxative that not only flushes the system clear of poisonous wastes, but tends to aid Nature in restoring the natural balance of body fluids.
 2. Its action results from osmosis (a gentle, thorough flushing) and not from irritation.
 3. It acts promptly. No hours of waiting.
 4. No "dragged-out" feeling afterwards—because Sal Hepatica does not deplete the body tissues of fluid.
- So take Sal Hepatica at the first sign of clogged intestines. And thus aid Nature to keep you free from colds, grippe, rheumatic pains, upset stomach and other common troubles.

Summer Sports Dress In Attractive Style

Sports frocks of linen, cotton, broadcloth, crinkled overcocker, pique and hard-finished sheers are high favorites with women who spend the summer at smart resorts where their reputation for taste and discrimination is judged largely by the clothes they wear. If your vacation is to be spent in some hotel, far from the advantages of the home laundress, you will need an adequate supply of dresses, the chief qualification of which should be simplicity and charm. This season's vogue for white helps a lot in reducing our problems so that easy stage where we find it possible to collect several unassuming frocks of the same general style and with the use of interesting accessories and occasional swagger coats assemble costumes that will be becoming to us when worn against a background of blue sea, or green country-side.

The model shown in the sketch has a top-rating with women who study all sides of the fashion problem before they buy. The neckline is cut in a becoming square and from this modish detail the rest of the dress takes its cut. The back reflects the current interest in artful trimming arrangements, the point of interest being, in this case, an irregular seamline with buttons accenting the divergent middle section of it. With a dress of this type an amusing variety of odd and interesting scarfs, kerchiefs, sports jackets and swagger coats may be worn with success. The same hold good for sports and beach hats, sandals, ox-fords and colorful wide belts of patent leather.

The FLAG goes by!

HATS OFF! Symbol of a mighty organization, a whole people united in a common cause, the flag goes by!

Since man first left the chase and the nomadic way of existence, and settled down to living, he has looked to some standard which represented his ideals.

The Egyptians and the Assyrians carried staffs bearing emblems. The Persians bore an eagle fixed to the end of a lance. The Greeks had a piece of armor on a spear. The Romans had their vexillum and, later, their labarum of purple silk embroidered with gold.

The organized way of life has always had its ensign. Today, the great manufacturing companies that provide the means of existence—food, clothing, shelter—have their standards, their trade-marks , of which they are as jealous as ever was any people of its flag.

Hats off to the modern trade-mark—symbol of reliability, square dealing, guarantee of your money's worth! Whatever you buy, be sure it bears a familiar, advertised trade-mark, and you can be sure the money you spend for it is well spent.

Buy advertised goods. You know they are reliable.

Many a man has taken a vacation only to find that vacation days proved harder work than behind an old desk.

Manic—How was the vacation?
Gladstone—It was a vacation, but it was a vacation. Everybody has had a grand time.

Manic—Who was the groom?
Gladstone—Ah, don't know. He never did show up.

Pumpkin and apple seeds float out from the kitchen these days as the busy housewife fills her glasses for the coming winter. A little time and effort now may provide against winter later in the year.

What Every Vacationist Knows
The rain insists on coming down, the holidays are damp.

Just about the time a girl starts "doting" on a boy, she finds an "anti-dote."

New Neighbor—Has your husband any hobbies?
Mrs. Newrich—No, he has rheumatism, a good deal, and hives now and then, but he ain't never had no hobbies.

We need more new cottages with Morning Glories over the door than we need new court houses with Doric columns.

In summer the greenness in a boy's trousers seem to last just about as long as his love affairs.

Father—Now son, start saving the pennies and put them in this yellow box, and when you get five pennies give them to me and I'll give you a nickel and you can put that in this blue box; then, when you get five nickels give them to me and I'll give you a quarter and you can put it in this red box.

Seventeen years later the boy discovered that the red box was the gas meter.

Anyhow the fuel bills are not so high now, and the wear and tear on the lawnmower is not so great, the weeds are not so hard to combat, and the harvesting conditions promise to be almost ideal. It's a hot, dry breeze that doesn't have something in it for which to be thankful.

Jim—You see that girl? She got $2,000 for a short love story.
Sam—Good heavens! That's a lot of money for a short story. Did she sell the movie rights?

Jim—No, she told it to a jury.

Vacations are somewhat like flirtations except in one you come home with a sunburn, and in the other with a bad case of heartburn.

First Hunter—My dog is most intelligent.
Second Ditto—I've noticed it; he always hides behind a tree when you shoot.

How often is a man's summer vacation more of a real trial to him than his work would have been during the same period.

A gay old sport is a man with more hair on the shoulder of his coat than on his head.

Usually homely girls with good looking husbands have a lot of money—they have to have.

With few exceptions we can do for ourselves everything that anyone else can do for us.

As nearly as we have been able to tell, a sunburn is a very democratic thing; it doesn't feel any more elegant on a million-dollar back than on a $10-a-week one.

Better not be too haughty toward pedestrians. A traveling salesman in Arkansas picked up an old man on the road, and later got a check for $10,000.

Arthur Brisbane suggests that Bernard Baruch write three books on "How to Get It," "How to Keep It," and "How to Invest It Safely." Solomon, or even Brisbane himself, wouldn't know enough for that.

The remarkable thing about summer is the number of problems that solve themselves when you go fishing.

Uncle Sam is trying now to curb bootleggers by depriving them of bottles, but they've repeatedly triumphed over worse obstacles than that.

Already it is evident what most of us are going to do with our new leisure. The active ones will play golf or drive around, and the sedentary ones will play bridge or write books.

As the President starts for Hawaii, it probably occurs to the Japanese government that if it wants to solve any Pacific problems, that's a good place to meet America half way.

The more we think about what this country has survived economically and politically, the more faith we have in its destiny.

That school boy who told his teacher that the chief use of cowhide is "to keep the cow together" will get along.

A Bushel of Wheat
The Department of Agriculture says that out of a bushel of wheat that usually weighs 60 pounds can be made 42 pounds of flour, 9 3/4 pounds of bran and 8 1/4 pounds of shorts. However, in the milling of wheat some of the conditions are largely concerned and in some cases discarded or destroyed the contents of the various baguettes.

GAS HIGGERS—Life's Little Lessons.

Dairymen to Hear About Equalization

Albany, N. Y., July 2 (AP).—With another strike of independent dairymen predicted in some quarters as "inevitable" if the plan is enforced, representatives of New York state's $100,000,000 dairy industry today were summoned to Albany for a hearing Friday on a proposed program of equalization of prices to producers.

The plan, long considered by state milk control revision officials, is permitted under the emergency section of the permanent legislation enacted last spring by Agriculture Commissioner Charles H. Baldwin has deferred putting it into effect until he has sounded out the opinion of the industry.

Producers' opinions as to the feasibility of the program are understood to be divided, there being as strong opposition to it in some sections as there is approval in others. Most of the protests to enforcement of such a plan have come from central New York.

Representatives of the New York Milk Producers Federation, meeting Saturday at Rome, generally opposed the idea and decided to take a vote on it in each of its units in 15 central New York counties.

Officials of the milk control division, in announcing the hearing made it clear that no definite plans regarding the program have yet been formulated.

Would Reach to Moon

Postage stamps printed at the bureau of engraving and printing in a single average year, if laid end to end, would reach from the earth to the moon, according to an authority. The line would exceed 200,000 miles, or eight times the circumference of the globe, and 25 different colors would be represented in the chain. Stacked in sheets of 100 stamps each, the annual stamp production would make 92 piles as high as the Washington monument. Eight hundred tons of paper, 430 tons of ink and 240 tons of gum are used in an ordinary 12-month period.

Fireflies Operate Own Light Plant in Stomach

Without fire and without electricity, the tiny flashing lanterns which are the fireflies and the fire-bug fungus of wood, brighten northern summer nights, and twinkle through tropic evenings.

The little fireflies secrete two juices which, when they are mixed together, glow. The juices are made in their stomachs as a part of their ordinary digestion, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Scientists have taken similar substances from different kinds of animals, and by mixing them, have created the same glowing light that the firefly does in its ordinary living. Another kind of "cold light" is fox-fire, or "punk," as children often call the small pieces of fungus-covered wood which one sees glowing almost anywhere in the woods at night. Fox-fire wood shines with a light caused by substances similar to those in the firefly's abdomen, but whereas the light of the firefly is rather golden, the light of the "punk" has all the colors ranging from violet to orange, with green predominating.

Other night-shining creatures are those which make the Mediterranean and other tropical seas wonderfully luminous at night. These tiny swimmers, which are too small to be seen without the aid of a microscope, float on top of the water, making it flash with gold as each little wave laden with millions of them rolls after its neighbor. And the light they give is mostly a violet light, containing no red at all when it is tested by the spectroscopic, which separates out all the colors of white light.

Slang Expressions

The slang expression "swell" first appeared in 1900, but was used in England much earlier than that, meaning a well-dressed man or a gentleman. Other slang phrases used in the period of the gay '90s expressing the same idea were bull, dandy and sometimes jim-dandy.

LEARNING TO SWIM

by CLARENCE S. MOONMAKER, Y. M. C. A. Secretary.

Introduction

The course of six lessons which will follow is based on what is generally conceded to be the best and quickest method of teaching swimming. In practically every place where instructors are keeping abreast with modern methods you will find this method being used. Of course, different instructors will use variations of the method and perhaps different terminology but fundamentally the method is the same.

There are six steps outlined in this course. Each step is of utmost importance. Some of them seem so simple that we are apt to pass over them as unimportant but after years of experience the writer is convinced that mastery of each step as mentioned makes for quicker and more complete success.

"How long will it take me to learn to swim?" is a frequent question. This is almost impossible to answer. Several recent experiences of the writer will illustrate this: One girl about 11 years old learned to swim twenty feet in about one hour and that hour was not entirely spent in work. Two boys about 10 years old learned to swim twenty feet in about 45 minutes. One young man about 26 years old learned to swim about twenty-five feet in thirty minutes. These cases could be multiplied many times. On the other hand there are a few instances where it takes three weeks to get beyond the first two lessons. These cases are rare. It is safe to say that any normal individual who hasn't an excessive fear of the water could easily learn to swim twenty-five feet in six half-hour periods by following closely the instructions given in the following course. Age makes little difference if there is no great fear. Perhaps fear can be more easily overcome in youngsters than in adults. Even this statement is debatable.

Let's follow the course closely, working in pairs if possible, and see how simple it really is. One lesson will appear each day until the course of six has been completed.

Lesson No. 1

While the first lesson seems exceedingly simple, nevertheless it is most important. This is the lesson in which we get the feel of the water and water confidence.

First, enter the water until you are in about waist deep. Now each of us I am sure has washed his face by simply leaning over a basin and scooping hands full of water against our face and rubbing it all over. Well, that is the first exercise. Do it again and again. Now you see an easier way of doing it is instead of lifting the water to the face, bend the face down to the water. That's the idea. Each time bend down until the face is completely under water. Do this a number of times until you do not mind it even a little bit. Each time as you bring the head up do not attempt to rub the water off. Do just as a dog does—shake the water off. Do this by tossing the head back quickly.

Now, what can you see under water? If you do not open your eyes you surely cannot see anything. Let's try it. While your face is in the water have a friend hold his hand about eight or ten inches away from your face and extend a number of fingers. There, now how many fingers did you see? None? Try it again and again until you can count them every time.

Next, let's blow bubbles. In swimming, contrary to the usual method of breathing—we take the air in through the mouth and blow it out through the nose. There are several reasons for this. If we should get some water we can handle it with the mouth better than through the nose, we can also get air more quickly through the mouth than we can through the nose and in swimming we must try to get our air quickly. A little later on we will find why that is so necessary. For the bubbles—standing in the same position as before take a deep breath through the mouth, duck your face in the water and while in the position blow the air out through the nose. How did it go? Not good? Let's try it again. Blow through the mouth—duck—through the nose. Keep trying it until you can do it a number of times in succession. After a short time will become easy. Keep practicing these few suggestions until you are sure of them and watch for the next lesson when we will initiate a turn and learn to float.

Burgomaster Beer

Burgomaster Beer—every drop of it—is brewed to an old-time standard—the purest secret of an old brewmaster—kept secret since 1857. Burgomaster will stand comparison with any beer brewed either here or abroad. Every drop of it is thoroughly aged. Drink it and it brings both health and enjoyment. Whether from the barrel or in the bottle, Burgomaster Beer is "the beer you can't forget."

Fitzgerald's Pale Ale

Here is a full-bodied, creamy-headed, sun-brown beer. It, too, is made from a thoroughly guarded formula. Every drop is uniformly good. It resembles the opposite—picks you up and, never lets you down. We believe it to be the best English type ale in America without a rival for satisfying whetness. Drink it once and you'll drink it always—It's "the ale that's good for what ails you."

Webb's Successor To Be Named July 5

Announce Election in Dutchess, Putnam and Columbia Counties Will Be a Test of New Deal.

Kingston, N. Y., July 2 (AP).—As far as the Democratic campaign in Dutchess, Putnam and Columbia counties on July 5 is a test of the "new deal" and the popularity of its author, Franklin D. Roosevelt, a local town boy.

The election is so named a successor to J. Orin Webb, who died a few months ago. The winner will hold a job that 23 years ago launched Mr. Roosevelt on a political career that carried him to the White House.

G. Glenn Newell, 63 year old pastor of landings and animals, the Democratic nominee, throughout his campaign in the three counties of the district called upon the voters to give expression to their approval of President Roosevelt by voting for him.

Frederic H. Bontecou, the Republican candidate, asserted the "new deal" had no place in the local election. Mr. Bontecou, 42, is the son-in-law of U. S. Senator Jesse H. McColl of Rhode Island.

Neither Newell nor Bontecou are born New Yorkers. The Democrat is a native of Grand Rapids, Mich., while Bontecou was born in Kansas City, Mo. Neither has been long in the county district they seek to represent.

Mr. Roosevelt was a youngster when he agreed to run for the state senate. The family home was at Hyde Park, a few miles north, and Franklin was known only as a young man in riding tops with an engaging smile. He campaigned in an automobile—a little seen vehicle in 1911, the makers of the Roosevelt were premature. Roosevelt was 16 when he again two years later but months had become nationally known as a Tammany foe and a supporter of Woodrow Wilson. That merited an assistant secretary of navy post.

Not since then has a Democrat held the senatorship. Mr. Roosevelt has not been so successful with his home district since. He lost it in 1928 when he ran for governor the first time; won it in 1932 and lost it in the presidential campaign of 1932. A new Democratic organization, with James Townsend, as chairman, has been set up since '32. Townsend is said to have been hand-picked by Mr. Roosevelt to strengthen the Democrats in Dutchess. Townsend's chief aid in the organization's efforts is Mrs. Edward A. Cagier, vice-chairman.

Independence Day preceding election day is expected to keep down the voting.

The winner will take his seat two days after the election when a special legislative session opens at Albany.

Mass Movement of Buffalo. Among the most prodigious and bewildering natural migrations is that of the western buffalo—on a scale regarded by buffalo hunters and others who followed its last wild trek. Some mapped the migrations of what he called the bison-hunters and the Red river herds. The territory involved in northern Montana, North Dakota, with a small area running across the Canadian border. Early in the nineteenth century the Red river buffalo herd went south by the Souris and the Ogishie valleys, and came south along the Red river. But on account of the growing settler settlements, they abandoned the Red river and in 1850 went south by the Fumish hills route. This movement of buffalo, it is deduced from the journal of an old-timer in the Red river valley, represented a migration of 40,000,000, before ranchers moved into the Northwest.

Disgraceful Birds. There are exceptions in the birds world, one being the graceful hoopoe, for this bird keeps its nest in a disgraceful condition. Birds that build no nests, and live in vast colonies, such as the gull, have the most appalling stench surrounding their young. This also applies to the gannet and cormorant, both of which build nests, but this does not seem to inconvenience them, for the sense of smell in these birds is poorly developed, and the gannet has no nostrils. Most nests are kept clean, especially those belonging to hedge-building birds. The homes of thrushes, tits, finches, and others are almost as clean after the young have been reared as when they were first built.

At The Theatres

Kingston: "Operator 13." Marion Davies creates the role of comedy, song, and laughter for a change and branches off into straight drama with excellent results. Never a pauper as a comedienne, she is really brilliant in a story that gives her an opportunity of being an actress instead of a clown. The Robert W. Chambers spy story of Civil War days has been developed into a powerful and absorbing film, a show that blends romance, mystery, excitement and realism into motion picture worth seeing. Operator 13. Miss Davies plays an extraordinary role, and Gary Cooper, as the northern soldier sent to track her down only to fall in love with her, is silent and strong as a secret service man should be. The Mills Brothers, Jean Parker and Ted Healy are all members of the large cast. The photography and general atmosphere is unusually good.

Orpheum: "Ever Since Eve." Filled with gay laughs most of the way, this talkie concerning a girl and two mine owners. The girl is a bit of a gold digger, and the two men aren't well acquainted with that type of individual. It's good, clean comedy drama from beginning to end. George O'Brien, Mary Brian and Herbert Mundin are "stingaree". 18th century romance with Richard Dix and Irene Dunne in the starring roles. As a bandit lover, Richard Dix rides over Australia, scene of the story, in the character of Stingaree, rubber chieftain. He falls in love with an opera star, and they finally run away together, after she has been a great success in the European capitals. The supporting cast includes Conway Tearle, Mary Boland and Andy Devine.

Tomorrow: Kingston: Same. Orpheum: "Her Splendid Folly." How it feels to be the double for a movie star is depicted in the first offering, and none too interestingly at that. Lillian Bond, Beryl Mercer and Theodore Von Eltz are in the cast. "The Thundering Herd" is western drama with plenty of punch and action. A fine cast includes Randy Scott, Judith Allan, Buster Crabbe, Noah Beery and Harry Carey. Broadway: Same.

11 MILLION APPORTIONED FOR NEW YORK STATE ROADS. Ithaca, N. Y., July 2.—New York state has been apportioned $11,327,921 for highway construction, according to an announcement reaching the state college of agriculture from Washington. The fund is part of a total apportionment of $200,000,000 among the forty-eight states, Hawaii, and the District of Columbia, and was authorized by the Hayden-Carwright Act signed by President Roosevelt for highway construction under the provisions of the National Industrial Recovery Act. Following requirements of the law, acting secretary of agriculture Tugwell apportioned seven-eighths of the total apportionment on the basis provided by the Federal Highway Act which apportions these funds of equal weight based upon the area, population, and rural postpaid mileage of the several states and Hawaii. The remaining one-eighth, as provided by law, was apportioned according to population. The money is immediately available for the Federal aid highway system and its extensions into and through cities and on important secondary roads. The law requires that in the absence of satisfactory evidence to the contrary, not less than twenty-five per cent of the apportionment to any state must be applied to secondary and feeder roads, including farm-to-market roads, rural free delivery roads, and public school bus roads.

Slender—Smart

One of the smartest ideas which have "caught on" in Paris is the cool caped shoulderless frock patterned for today. It has tricky lines that flatter the youthful figure and slenderize the figure above normal weight. It does for town or for country wear in thin sheer chiffon or silk.

It takes minimum effort and cost to fashion it. Bowties, volants, eyelet batiste, lawn prints, flower prints, tulip prints, etc., are also smart.

Style No. 2987 is designed for sizes 16, 18 years, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28 and 30 inches bust. Size 26 requires 4 1/2 yards of 3/4-inch material, 2 1/4 yards of trimming for sleeves.

NEW "WRIST WATCH" TO KEEP THE WHOLE BODY COOL

Lafayette, Ind., July 2 (AP).—A new "wrist watch" which will keep the whole body cool in hot weather was announced today at Purdue University.

The device looks like a watch, but instead of keeping time, encloses a pellet of dry ice, or solid carbon dioxide, at 109 degrees below zero. The effects are the same as dipping the wrist in cold water, a favorite hot weather trick, or of keeping a stream of cold water running over the body. Dry ice burns the skin almost instantly wherever it makes direct contact. The Purdue invention insulates the ice, so that only a normally cooling stream of cold air and cold carbon dioxide gas flows over the sensitive spot on the wrist where the radial artery is close to the surface. One small pellet of the dry ice lasts about an hour in the "watch" case. The effects of cool gas flowing out of the container continue for about 20 minutes in addition.

Shields, Wood Gain Wimbledon Semi-Final

American Also Advances in doubles
—Perry and Crawford defeat England's Hopes in Tournament.

Wimbledon, Aug. 2 (AP).—The United States won an even break today in the quarter-finals of the all-England tennis championships. Frank X. Shields and Sidney Wood, Jr., the Davis Cup ace, winning to the semi-final round with Fred Perry, England's cup leader, and Jack Crawford, defending champion from Australia.

Perry put out the cup veterans George M. Lutz, Jr., in a bitterly contested four set match 6-4, 2-6, 7-5, 10-8 and Crawford won from the big Californian, Lester Stetson, 7-5, 2-6, 7-5, 6-0.

Shields had a hard time against Henry Wilford (Bunny) Austin, England's No. 2 player, before winning 4-6, 2-6, 7-5, 6-3, 7-5 but Wood advanced easily as the surprise of Vernon Kirby, veteran South African player, 6-1, 6-4, 2-6, 6-0.

Shields meets Crawford and Wood goes against Perry in the semi-finals.

While the exciting events were in progress on the favored courts Americans also were advancing in doubles encounters on the outer battlegrounds.

Elizabeth Ryan, the former Californian and Miss. Rene Mathieu, of France, defending champions in women's doubles, advanced to the third round in defense of their title with a 6-4, 6-6 victory over Mrs. V. Burr and Mrs. E. S. Law, of England.

Dave Jones, former Columbia University No. 2, and his English partner, Mrs. Doreen, also won to the third round of the mixed doubles, defeating H. W. Arnes, of Austria, and Mrs. B. Pons 6-1, 6-4.

Helene Jacobs and Sarah Palfrey, favored American combination, had a walkover to the third round.

Financial and Commercial

New York, July 2 (AP).—Clouds hovered over the financial markets today and both traders and investors were inclined to remain within narrow profit shelters pending the clearing of speculative risks.

Extreme dulness marked the first day's operation of the Stock Exchange under federal regulation and most share groups led by the rails, exhibited a rather heavy tone. Some of the nervousness was attributed to the exciting developments in Germany as well as to doubts concerning the effect of various new laws on industrial profit generally.

Shares of Union Pacific were off more than 3 points. Santa Fe nearly 2 and New York Central and Southern Pacific a point or more. Others down 1 to 2 or so. Included U. S. Smelting, Du Pont, American Can, Western Union and Case. Slightly lower prices were recorded by Consolidated Gas, American Telephone, North American Smelting, Corro De Pasco, Great Western Sugar, General Motors, Chrysler, Low's, Schenley, U. S. Steel, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck and Auburn. Some resistance was shown by the Aircrafts, Oils and Alcohols.

Harvey A. Freidell, a lifelong resident of the town of Rosendale, died at 5 o'clock this morning at his home in Bloomington. He had been in ill health for some time but despite his age had been active. Had Mr. Freidell lived until July 24 he would have been 82 years old. Born in the town of Rosendale in 1851, a son of Conrad Freidell and Phoebe Hoffman Freidell, he spent his entire life there. For many years during the cement industry boom he was employed in the cement business by various of the firms then engaged in the manufacture of Rosendale cement. He continued in that capacity until the decline of the cement industry and has since led a retired life. Surviving are three brothers, Eugene B. Freidell of West Englewood, N. J., George Freidell of Brooklyn and Grant Freidell of Chatham, and one sister, Anne P. Starkey of Princess Bay, S. I. One daughter, Lollia M. Freidell, at home and two step-sons, George LaFever of Bloomington and Ralph H. LaFever of Rosendale. The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, daylight saving time, from the late residence on Greenkill road, Bloomington, and will be private. Interment will be in the Dutch Reformed Cemetery at Bloomington. Relatives and friends wishing to view the remains may do so between the hours of 3 and 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and from 7 until 10 o'clock Wednesday evening.

Richard Tappen, who died Saturday, son of Richard W. Tappen and Maria Burhans Tappen, was born April 27, 1859, in the old Tappen Homestead, which formerly stood at 32 Maiden Lane. His ancestors were some of the distinguished men of their times, and had much to do with the making of history of this city and state. His father was known as "Squire Tappen," and his advice was eagerly sought after by all. His great-grandfather, Christopher Tappen, was one of the most illustrious men of revolutionary days. It was he who saved the public documents at the burning of the provincial Congress which met at New York on May 22, 1775. He was also a member of the Committee of Safety and was first major of Northern Regiment of Minute Men in 1775. Christopher Tappen's sister, Cornelia Tappen, was the wife of George Clinton, the first governor of the state. Mr. Tappen was engaged in the blue stone business in Wilbur for many years in partnership with Frank Rogers, and in more recent years had been in the Mason's supply business on Greenkill avenue. He was a member of the First Dutch Reformed Church, one of the oldest members of the Kingston Club, and a member of the Masonic Temple. Mr. Tappen was a very genial nature and loved by all who knew him. He is survived by his wife, Clara Van Deusen Tappen, and one daughter, Florence Eleanor Tappen.

Ford Code Signature May Be Given Soon

Washington, July 2 (AP)—This may tell whether Henry Ford will sign the code. The outcome apparently has been delayed by a bit of a mishap. A Ford dealer near here, who has been on government contracts because the Ford Company lacked the code, submitted a "trial" copy of a letter to Hugh S. Johnson Saturday. It asserted the company had complied with NRA in the past and would continue to do so. "We reserve, however, our constitutional statutory rights," it concluded. Johnson did not like that wording. He suggested it be changed to "We reserve the right to establish in a competent court of jurisdiction."

39-Year-Old Man Is Mexican President

Mexico, D. F., July 2 (AP)—A 39-year-old revolutionary commander of mixed Spanish and Indian descent, General Lázaro Cárdenas, was sworn in today as the forty-fifth constitutional president of Mexico. The election yesterday was the most orderly and one-sided in the history of the nation. One person, an election judge in Ocosingo, Vera Cruz, was shot to death in a scuffle, but there were only minor clashes elsewhere. Both defeated candidates asserted today, however, that the national revolutionary (administrative) party supporters of Cárdenas violated election laws in rolling up an estimated 96 per cent of the total vote. General Antonio Villarreal and Colonel Adalberto Tejeda, both charged numerous irregularities and said they would not recognize the results of the election. Official returns were not available, but those gathered by the administration party gave 96 per cent to Cárdenas, 3 per cent to Villarreal and 1 per cent to Tejeda. Cárdenas is scheduled to be sworn in December 1, to succeed President Alvaro Obregón.

Japanese Cabinet Likely to Resign

Tokyo, July 2 (AP)—Demands from the army and navy for a more militaristic government led today to open predictions that the cabinet of Premier Mahatma Satō would resign tomorrow. Another factor in what vernacular newspapers called the apparent intention of the cabinet to quit is a scandal in the finance department, involving under Secretary Kureda. Political observers believed Emperor Hirohito would refuse to accept the resignations or immediately appoint Satō to form a new government. Officers of the fleet have asked appointment of a cabinet which would strongly press Japanese demands at next year's naval conference. Fearing an outbreak of political activity, army officials temporarily cancelled all meetings of young officers.

Rosedale Theatre Will Present Plays

Company Formerly Located at 25-26th Street, Will Present Plays at the Elverhoj Theatre in Midtown. Commencing tonight at the Elverhoj Theatre, Rosedale, a season of new and old Broadway plays will be presented by S. M. Charlock, who successfully produced the Gilbert and Sullivan revivals this season in New York at popular prices. The play this week is a comedy drama called "Gram," by Adele Bushnell. "Gram" was presented last week at the Elverhoj Theatre in Midtown and received with great enthusiasm by local press and audiences alike. It deals with the excitement of a prisoner's escape and the tender love of a Maine grandmother for the escaped boy. At affords everyone an opportunity of laughter at the antics of Gram, played by Adele Bushnell. Supporting her in the role of the escaped prisoner is Stanley Smith, who can be remembered from the motion pictures. Next week the Elverhoj players will present Max Gordon's sensational success of last season, "The Shining Hour," by Keith Winter with Beverly Bayne as guest star. Performances will be given every evening at 8:30 except Saturday at 7:15. There is dancing after the performance Saturday. This week a special matinee at 2:30 Wednesday, July 4, will be given.

Dealers Disagree on Question of Abolishing National Auto Shows

By EDWARD W. MORRISON
Special Correspondent of The Freeman
Copyright, 1934.
Detroit, July 2.—The lack of agreement among auto dealers and manufacturers on the question of abolishing the national automobile shows at New York and Chicago has been demonstrated by a poll now being taken by the Automotive Daily News. With slightly more than 2,000 votes cast, the ballots in favor of continuing the shows number 1,001. Against the shows are 1,044 ballots. On one thing, however, the dealers are agreed. They favor the concentration of shows all over the country into a single week, if the poll of the trade organ is correct. The question, "Do you favor shows for the public held in the same week in all major cities?" brought this response: Yes, 1,001, no, 163. Should the New York and Chicago shows be abolished, it is plain the dealers, as a whole, favor January as the month in which nationwide exhibitions should be held. The first preferences of the dealers, as revealed by the poll are: January, 1,685; February, 395; March, 237; April, 41. These figures tend to dispel the idea in many quarters that the dealers favor spring shows. Some of the manufacturers were saying as late as a month ago that if the two national shows were abolished, the industry would benefit by delaying all the exhibitions. It is necessary to recall that the New York show in recent years has occurred the second week in January, with the Detroit and Chicago shows close in its wake. The suggestion that an advance showing of cars for dealers only be held in Detroit, as a kind of annual automobile mart, is received with approval among the dealers. The vote for this proposal was: Yes, 1,175; no, 145.

Baffling Mystery Gives Puzzle to Wisconsin

Jefferson, Wis., July 2 (AP)—The discovery of the badly beaten and bullet-punctured body of Earl Gentry, once tried with D. C. Stephenson, former Grand Dragon of the Indiana Ku Klux Klan, for the death of Madge Oberholzer, gave Wisconsin officials a baffling slaying mystery today. Gentry's body was found late yesterday, grotesquely slumped in his automobile which had been parked near a swimming pool on the Rock River. Absence of normal amount of blood in the car and the fact that the body was covered with rugs led to a search of the home of Mrs. Carrie Gill, 59-year-old widow, where Gentry had lived for several years. The sheriff said what appeared to be hastily sponged stains were found on the kitchen floor.

Market for Fruits And Vegetables

New York, July 2, 1934 (St. Dept. of Agri. and Mkts).—The following quotations represent prices on the New York city downtown wholesale district up to 8 a. m. New York state big Boston lettuce receipts were more liberal today. Demand was generally slow. Crates of two dozen heads jobbed out from 25-50. Iceberg lettuce from California sold in crates of 4 and 5 dozen heads at from $2.75-$4.50. Arrivals of green peas from upstate were moderate. Fancy stock sold readily. Various varieties in bushel baskets jobbed out from $1.25-$1.75. Washington telephone peas in bushel hampers brought $1.25-$1.50. The market for string beans was decidedly dull and weak as the supply was far in excess of trade requirements. Small shipments have begun to arrive from Hudson valley and the very finest bountiful beans peddled out at 50c-75c per bushel basket. Hudson valley currants were in moderate receipts, but because of the slow demand prices tended downward. Quart baskets jobbed out at 60-9c. Gooseberries were in light supply and realized 10c-13c. Red raspberries sold from 10c-14c per pint basket. Strawberry supplies were less plentiful today, nevertheless prices declined due to the slow demand. Chesapeake strawberries sold within the range of 15c-30c per quartbasket while various other varieties brought 10c-22c. Arrivals of cherries from the Hudson valley were moderate. The market ruled steady for sweet cherries of attractive quality and large size, but generally dull for sour. Four quart baskets of sweet cherries of various varieties and colors brought 40c-85c and red sour 25c-35c.

New Jersey Madman Kills One, Wounds 3

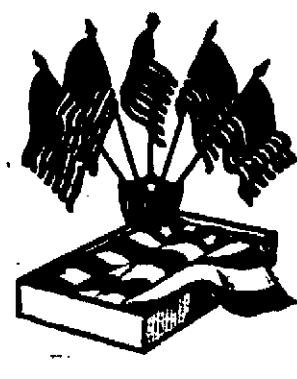

Elizabeth, N. J., July 2 (AP)—A madman with a gun fought it out with a squad of policemen in his home and today one of the policemen is dead, three others wounded and the gunman himself in a serious condition. Patrolman Frank Carino, 37, first of the policemen to enter the home of the man last night, fell dead at the first shot. Three other officers rushed the house, each to fall as George Moran, 31-year-old son of a former policeman, fired into the group. Two more policemen entered and one of them shot Moran in the head. Neighbors of Moran, who lived in the house with his father, James, told police he had been acting strangely all day.

Princess Barbara Flies to Paris Today

Paris, July 2 (AP)—Princess Barbara Hutton Mdivani came to Paris by air today to join her father, Franklin Hutton, for a trip to Czechoslovakia, leaving the prince in London playing polo. The Woolworth heiress was in excellent spirits as she stepped from a plane at Le Bourget airfield. "There is no truth in divorce rumors about myself and the prince," she said. "The prince and I are quite happy."

Stars of American And National Play In New York July 10

New York, July 2 (AP).—If the popular vote were followed rigidly, the annual all-star game between the National and American Leagues at the Polo Grounds July 10 would look much like the first.

Final results of the nation-wide poll taken in connection with the contest indicate, in a general way, a decided leaning toward most of the players who participated in the first all-star game at Chicago last summer.

In the balloting for American League positions, Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, and Vernon Gomez of the Yankees; Charley Gehringer of the Tigers; Jimmy Dykes of the White Sox and Joe Cronin of the Senators, all of whom played in last year's test, were strongest choices in their positions this time.

Burt Averill of the Indians, used as a pinch hitter last year, finished second to Ruth in the outfield balloting with Melrose Maunah of the Senators third.

Bob Fernald of the Red Sox, last year's catcher, was no better than fourth in the balloting this year, finishing behind Bill Dickey, Mickey Vernon and Halton Hemmery. Cronin and Grover, who shared the punning burden with Al Crowder, finished first and third respectively. While Crowder was in 12th place, Earl Whitcomb of the Senators, slipped into second.

In the National League, Bill Terry and Carl Hubbell of the Giants; Frankie Frisch of the Cardinals; Chuck Klein, Charley Gehringer and Lou Warner of the Cubs; Wally Berger of the Braves and Pie Traynor of the Pirates, all received heavy support again.

On the basis of the voting, Dick Bartell's position at shortstop will be filled this year by Travis Jackson of the Giants; Joe Medwick of the Cardinals, will take over Paul Waner's outfield post; with Traynor, used as a pinch hitter last year, displacing Pepper Martin of the Cardinals at third base and Jerome (Dizzy) Dean taking over the pitching duties that fell to the lot of his fellow Cardinal, Bill Hallahan, in 1933.

Although Hartnett polled a heavy vote for catcher's duty, the leader was Al Lopez of the Dodgers.

Although they serve as a useful guide, the results of the poll are not binding upon the rival managers, Terry and Cronin, who will have final say in the selections.

Synopsis of Things In the Major Leagues

By HERBERT W. BARKER (Associated Press Sports Writer)

Major league baseball approaches July 4th and the halfway mark with both pennant races still subject to change without notice. Today only six games separated the first five clubs in the National League and seven covered leading five in the American.

The world champion Giants picked up a half game on the second place Chicago Cubs yesterday by trimming the Brooklyn Dodgers, 5-4. Memo runs by Travis Jackson and Frank O'Doul accounted for all the Giant's runs.

The Cubs had the Pittsburgh Pirates beaten going into the ninth but the Corns filled the bases and Tommy Thoenes followed with a scorching double that drove in the tying and winning runs in the 9th inning.

Despite their victory, the Pirates dropped into fifth place, a half game behind the Boston Braves who won two games from the Phillies, 6-3, and 3-0. The Braves, by having none left on base in the opener, equalled a major league record.

The third place St. Louis Cardinals drew to within a game of the Cubs, beating Cincinnati 8-6, in an 18-inning slugfest and then battling to a 2-2 five-inning draw. Dizzy Dean and Tony Freitas booked up in a 17-inning duel in the first game. Although lifted for a pinch hitter, Dean was awarded the decision when the Cardinals rapped Paul Derringer for two runs in the 18th.

The Yankees increased their lead over Detroit to a game and a half by winning, 5-3, from Washington behind Johnny Broaca's seven-hit pitching. Detroit split a double bill with the Browns, losing the first, 2-3, but winning the second, 13-2.

The Boston Red Sox beat the Philadelphia Athletics, 10-2, and moved into third place, replacing Washington which fell to fifth. Cleveland retained fourth position by winning the second game from the Chicago White Sox, 4-3, in 11 innings, after losing the first, 12-5.

Sports Tidbits By Robert Edgren

THE Spotlight BY GRANTLAND RICE

To a Caged Tiger.

I've watched you stalking back and forth, the hurt look in your eyes. Seating far off, the jungle grass, the blazing Indian skies. The muted snarl of underbrush that sweeps the covered loam. The hidden places that you knew, and looked upon, as home.

There you could move on silent paw to track your luckless prey—There you could find the jungle thrill that knows the right of way: Part of the ancient plan that came with life's first flame of sun. Lord of the kingdom that you ruled, where might and right were one.

I've watched you in your steel-bound cage, but you are not alone, O, hapless captive with your dreams that seek the outer zone; Don't look with envy on the lot of those who cross your view. The world today is chain or cage, for all, except a few.

For we, who watch your restless step, can understand your dreams Of far-off shores and jungle grass and sunlit, singing streams. Chained to a desk or out of work, drab captives of some fate That shuts the Great Adventure out, beyond the city's gate.

Tiger—the Indian sun is hot—the jungles' echoes call— Tiger—I know just how you feel—with chain and cage and wall— On restless feet you'll dream your dreams—and stay within your cage— With restless heart I'll dream with you—and write another page.

A Driver in the Rough.

In one of the most interesting decisions handed down along the line of sport, a judge awards $10,000 to a caddy who happened to be in the line of flight.

It seems that the golfer employed a driver from the rough, and the judicial opinion concerning this act is one of the high lights of his charge—as follows:

"I believe the use of a driver in the 'rough' by the defendant was not negligence in itself. It at least was not the proximate cause of the injuries to the plaintiff. It is not unusual in golf to see a player with an exaggerated opinion of his ability to use certain clubs. On this score some golfers are eccentric.

"While it is true that a driver is seldom used in the 'rough,' the defendant might have felt that the driver was the proper club for him to use at the time. It often happens that one player might consider a midiron a necessity for his particular shot, while another player might use a mashie for the identical stroke, or one player might be prone to use a brassie and another a spoon for an identical shot. I do not feel that the defendant was negligent, therefore, in the choice of his club.

"The peculiar feature of this 'driver from the rough' business belongs to the duffer more than to the star. Dubs rush in with brassies where Hagens use lofted irons.

There are any number of golfers who have never cracked a 100 and who yet cling to the dream that some day they will get 200 yards with a driver or a brassie from matter rough to a deep, cuppy lie.

I have seen them, round after round, call for the wood where Bobby Jones would have used a mashie or a mashie-niblick.

This is one of the reasons so many have never cracked their first 100. Year after year they follow the dirty phantom of a brilliant recovery. Once in a rare while it may come off. In the meanwhile they have thrown away more than a thousand strokes for the one they have saved.

"I could never understand," Hagens once said, "why a golfer who can't hit a good shot from the fairway still seems to think he can play a wooden club from a bad lie off the course. The game's hard enough as it is."

Some Post-Mortems.

There are always stray post-mortems in connection with a heavy-weight championship, which finally come to light.

It developed that Gene Tunney, before his second fight with Jack Dempsey, spent several hours reading Somerset Maugham's story, "Of Human Bondage." (If this is incorrect, complain to Mr. Maugham).

I asked Max Baer just what his sensations were before and after the Carnera fight. This was his answer:

"Dempsey and I are on the way out to the arena—Jack suddenly turns to me—'Gee, he says, 'I'm a lucky guy. I'm glad I'm not the champion tonight. Max—you'd knock my head off—I wouldn't go three rounds the best day I ever saw.'"

"So I said, 'Listen, champ—don't try to kid me—you don't have to build up my confidence—I've got plenty for this fellow—maybe too much—but it would be all different if I was fighting you—then I'd be trying to see whether I could jump over those ropes.'"

"After the fight? I'll tell you. I turned in pretty early. I slipped away to a room and tried to go to sleep. I woke up around six o'clock, and you know what happened? I'd wrecked the bed—sheets, pillows, everything—I'd fought over every round. All I dreamed about was swinging at Carnera—and I must have tried every swing after I went to sleep. Honest—there wasn't much left on that bed—it was a wreck.

"The thing that woke me up was a swing I missed and I nearly fell off the mattress—that was all there was left. I was more tired when I woke up than I was at the end of the third round when I had to draw in and pace myself."

Wrestling Card at Woodcliff Tuesday

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., July 2—Thousands of wrestling addicts will assemble here Tuesday night when Billy Brown and the American Legion stage a grand and green exhibition at Woodcliff Park.

According to reports from all over the Hudson valley, the card Brown has listed is proving to be a most attractive one. Tickets have already been ordered by fans to most every city in the valley and Brown is most optimistic. If this card pays, he said, he will bring such outstanding wrestlers as Jim London, Jim Brown, Ed Dan George and Joe Savoldi here for the next one.

Tony Morrell, Natick champion, heads the card with "Dutch" Green of Germany and Maurice La Chapelle, French champion performer in the semi final with Tiger Flowers Johnson, Cuban showman.

Herbie Freeman, one of the most popular wrestlers to be brought to this city will exchange headlocks with Dick Griffin, Irish champ. In the second bout of the evening while Mike Chaplin of Chicago and Max Martin, the American Adonis, battle it out in the opener.

Activities will begin at 8:30.

FAIRVIEW THIS EVENING

This evening at Block Park, about street, The Freeman basketball team will cross bats with the Fairview All Stars. Scheduled starting time of the game is 8:30 o'clock. Opposing battalions will be: Freeman—Durrant, Schuster and Bell; All Stars—Frank "Shed" Howe and Schuster.

Huron Indians Trip St. Remy Tossers, 6-4

Sunday at St. Remy, Sam Barnett's side played a fine game but lost to the Huron Indians, 6-4. Lovers, pitching for the Indians, had nine strikeouts. Rask caught "Pucker" Davis on the 1. Remy mound had seven strikeouts. McElrath was his battery mate.

In talking of the contest, Matt Loebsch's first as captain of St. Remy, Manager Barnett credited him to a great degree for the way the home club showed up, losing by only one run.

St. Remy is without a game for Wednesday, July 4. Managers interested should call 2174-W.

"TIRES" GUARANTEES DON'T HELP MUCH IN A CASE LIKE THIS!

THIS GUARANTEED TIRE MAY SAVE YOUR LIFE

DON'T worry! When you buy a Goodrich Safety Silvertown your money is safe. Because every Goodrich Silvertown is fully guaranteed for a period of twelve months against any condition that may render the tire unfit for further service—except puncture, fire, theft or abuse from running flat.

But, what is far more important, when you buy a Goodrich Silvertown you may be saving your life. For every Silvertown has the amazing Golden Ply invention that protects you from high-speed blow-outs.

Here's Proof!

Racing daredevils tested out the Golden Ply at break-neck speeds. On the world's fastest track. Gave it everything they had. Rubber got so hot it fairly smoked. Not one blow-out. Similar tires without the Life-Saver Golden Ply failed at one-third the distance the Golden Ply Silvertowns were run. And what's more, the Golden Ply Silvertowns kept right on going up the mile.

Don't gamble when human lives are at stake. Get a set of Goodrich Silvertowns now and play safe. With each tire, you'll get the Goodrich guarantee which protects your tire investment for a full year. Remember, too, that you are getting the only tire in the world with the Life-Saver Golden Ply invention. And don't forget Goodrich Safety Silvertowns cost no more than other standard tires.

MONDAY, JULY 2, 1934
Sun. 6:17; Mon. 7:50, E. S. T.
Weather, clear.
The temperature registered by the Freeman thermometer last night was 64 degrees. The highest point reached up until noon today was 83 degrees.
Weather Forecast
Washington, July 2.—Eastern New York: Fair; warmer in extreme west portion tonight; Tuesday increasing cloudiness; local thunder showers in afternoon; cooler Tuesday night and in north and central portions in afternoon.

Thermometer Records 104 Degrees in Sun

The heat wave which has enveloped the city since last Friday did not relax its grip over the week-end and at noon today the big thermometer hanging on the outside of the Connolly Drug Company on lower Broadway, registered 104 degrees in the sun. The highest recording, however, was last Friday when 110 degrees was registered. Saturday the same thermometer registered 102 degrees.
So intense was the heat on Sunday that those who owned cars went for a drive and the traffic was heavy on all of the main traveled highways in the county leading out of the city. At the aerating basin of the Ashokan reservoir many parties stopped for a picnic lunch Sunday.
No heat prostrations were reported in the city over the week-end.

Ruggles' Children Are Burned to Death

San Mateo, Calif., July 2 (AP).—Caught by roaring flames as they clung together at their home, two grandchildren of William H. Ruggles, millionaire New Yorker, are dead today while their mother lies critically ill from grief and shock.
The children, Henrietta Ruggles, eight, and John, six, were burned to death in the mother, Mrs. Henrietta Ruggles, fought frantically against the restraining arms of police and firemen to join them.
Mrs. Theresa Cassidy, cook, and Miss Gertrude Portway, governess, each of whom thought the other had rescued the children, saved their lives by leaping from the second floor.
Shortly after the fire spread through the two-story, wooden building early yesterday, Mrs. Ruggles, divorced wife of John Rathbone Ruggles of New York, arrived in her automobile from a night club where she had gone to bring back a house guest. She collapsed.
The fire was believed due to faulty wiring.

Held For Hearing.
Irving Mackay, 44, of Highland, was committed to the jail Sunday to await a hearing before Justice Walter Haebrock on a charge of public intoxication.

Nazi Storm Troop Leaders "Liquidated"

Berlin, July 2 (AP).—Three days ago their pictures were in Berlin shop windows. Their autobiographies were advertised in newspapers. But today a number of Nazi storm troop leaders were dead.
They had been "liquidated" — to use the government's business like expression. Adolf Hitler meant business.
Hitler and his assistants struck swiftly and suddenly early Saturday. The surprised leaders were given no court martial, no trial. Their insignia were stripped off and then they were shot.
To Ernest Roehm, chief of staff of the storm troops, was extended the privilege of killing himself. But Roehm, once a public hero, declined. High-ups who were "liquidated" in addition to Roehm included:
General Kurt von Schleicher, World War hero and chancellor just prior to Hitler; and Frau von Schleicher; Heinrich Klossner, chief of the Catholic action party; Count Wolf Heinrich Heildorf, Nazi police official in Potsdam.
Six storm troop leaders were slain in Munich; August Scheidhuber of Munich and Edmund Heines of Bielefeld, supreme group leaders; Karl Ernst of Berlin; Wilhelm Schmid of Munich; Hans Heya of Saxony; Peter von Heydebeck of Pomerania; and Count Sprell of Munich.
Hubert von Rose, chief of staff to Vice-Chancellor von Papen, was reported a suicide. Gregor Strasser, former Nazi organizer, was slain.

Storm Troopers May be Scrapped

Berlin, July 2 (AP).—Fear and bewilderment spread like wildfire today through the ranks of the brown-shirted, highbooted storm troopers.
Rumors came back to this group, most affected by Chancellor Hitler's "housecleaning," that the heyday of the famous brown army had passed.
The fear struck directly at the subleaders, on a salary basis, who were left to wonder whether they would be swept aside by the great broom.
The bewilderment fell among the rank and file who knew only that their erstwhile leader, Ernst Roehm, is dead with public disgrace on his name, and that they are to take orders from a comparatively unknown leader, Victor Lutze.
A definite belief prevailed that Roehm's followers will not be content to let matters stand as they are, despite a stern government demand that they do so.
For the average storm troopers, moreover, there was uncertainty and speculation as to what they will be called on to do in view of the persistence of their new leader that they "obey blindly."

Germany's Neighbors Foresee a Monarchy

(By The Associated Press.)
Predictions of a return of the Hohenzollerns and of further outbreaks were included today in European reaction to Chancellor Hitler's ruthless suppression of an insipient revolt.
Hitler's "violent" methods were criticized by Engelbert Dollfuss, Austria's dictator, who said "Does not the light at last dawn upon us that one cannot make a people happy with violent methods?"
Paris interpreted the week-end as a victory for conservatives and as opening the possibility for a return to the Hohenzollerns.
In London the view was taken that Hitler had solidified his position.
Some papers accused him of employing the methods of gangsters and called the slaying of Storm Troop leaders "brutal murders."
A dispatch from Doorn said there was unusual activity about the estate of former Emperor Wilhelm and that he remained indoors.
The Soviet press said the week-end indicated the desperation of the "ruling class," which was seeking to prevent a proletarian revolution.

Stay-at-Home Camp For Y. W. C. A. Girls

The Kingston Y. W. C. A. this summer will hold what is named a "Stay-at-Home Camp" for the grade school girls of the city, 10 years old and older. The camp season will be from July 10 to July 27. Tuesdays and Thursdays there will be varied activities at Forsyth Park, and Wednesdays and Fridays in the Y. W. building. The camp will be under the personal supervision of the Y. W. staff. Full information may be obtained at the Y. W. office by parents interested in the proposed plan for carrying on summer activities.

New Bridge Will Be Opened at Mt. Tremper

Spanning the Esopus Will Be Opened for Use Over July 4.
The old iron bridge spanning the Esopus creek at Mt. Tremper leading to Mt. Pleasant has been replaced by a modern concrete and steel bridge which will be opened for use over the Fourth of July. The old structure was damaged several years ago by flood water and last summer it went out during high water. Plans for a modern structure were prepared and work was carried on during the winter and spring. While the old bridge was out it has been necessary for vehicles to detour by way of Phoenicia to get to the Mt. Pleasant railroad station. A temporary foot bridge was erected for pedestrians.
Boarding houses on the west side of the creek which have been practically cut off since the old bridge went out last summer will welcome the opening of the new bridge.
The new bridge has been raised considerably higher than the old one and much more substantial piers have been used to withstand the effects of high water.
Plans are being made for a formal opening Thursday evening when the villagers of Mt. Tremper and Mt. Pleasant will unite in festivities to celebrate the opening. In order to complete the approaches and have the bridge ready for use over the holiday work was carried on Sunday.

"Three Rivers" at Matoaka Theatre

The Matoaka Manor Theatre on Route 9-W between Kingston and Saugerties, the new playhouse that opened recently is presenting "Three Rivers," a new play by a new writer, Herb Medow, who plays the male lead in the drama this evening at the theatre and will present the same play Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. The curtain rises each night at 9 o'clock. Among the patrons of this summer civic theatre are Mayor and Mrs. C. J. Heiselman. Miss Adele Bradford plays the leading female part in the play, which is said to be exceptionally interesting and well acted.
The Matoaka Theatre is in charge of Dorothy Deer-Horn, a movie star, who will play the leads in many of the new attractions that will be offered. The theatre management is planning to shortly present "Nice People" and "The Silver Cord" and later a Mollere comedy.
The new theatre, which will seat 900, is located on the Saugerties road, just north of the Schoentag Hotel.

Anxiety, Hope Felt Over German Revolt

Washington, July 2 (AP).—Anxiety and hope mingled in the minds of observers today as they read about the mopping up of Germany's abortive revolt.
Some feared that the violence in the Reich might make the problem of debts more difficult; others hoped that Hitler's crushing of so-called "wild men" might make the outlook for peace in Europe a bit brighter.
They wondered if the Hitler stand against the extremists might herald a modification of the intense nationalism which has characterized his rise to power.
As for debts, Germany has declared a moratorium on foreign obligations which include about $1,500,000,000 held in the United States.
Secretary Hull, in a recent note, told Germany some of her policies would be blamed in part for her economic plight. His language was considered broad enough to include such things as anti-semitism and the military spirit.

Mayor Heiselman Opens Block Party

Mayor Conrad Heiselman will officially start in motion the annual block party of Excelsior House Co., No. 4 Hurley avenue, near corner of Washington avenue, on Tuesday evening, by turning on the lights at 9 o'clock sharp, thereby starting Paul Zucca and his orchestra off with their music and "on with the dance." Harry Malsenholder will preside at the piano, accompanied by 12 other musicians.
This event of the Bremen is always looked forward to by the lovers of dancing as one of Kingston's big social events. And this year the boys of Excelsior have left nothing undone to make this a banner night for their friends and one of the best. Thousands of colored lights with several colored lights and a large revolving colored spotlight which will focus on the dancers have been installed, giving the block the real appearance of a "Parisienne boulevard party" and comparing to the old fashioned "Coney Island Mardi Gras." The committee's plans are in keeping with the atmosphere of one of America's greatest holidays, 4th of July.
Dancing will start promptly at nine and continue until one a. m.

Fire Damages Mt. Tremper House

Fire which evidently started from a defective chimney did considerable damage to the Ludwig Parich property at Mt. Tremper this morning. The flames were discovered about 4:30 o'clock in the kitchen at the rear of the house. Before aid could be summoned the flames had gained considerable headway and had reached their way between the partitions of the upper floor and to the roof. There was considerable damage to the fire in the attic and by water on the lower floor.
When the fire was discovered neighbors went to the scene and the Phoenicia fire department was called. The Phoenicia pump responded and extinguished the fire but not until the flames had burned through the roof.
